The best USB TV tuners allow you to watch TV on your computer! Get rid of your TV and opt for TV on your computer or laptop instead by using a TV tuner. You can watch TV on the go with ease or bounce from room to room without missing a second of your favorite shows. When you buy your new TV tuner, know that they broadcast free TV and not premium content, but that doesn't mean the options are limited. Our first choice, Hauppauge 1191 WinTV-HVR-955Q on Amazon, is the most popular because it has 1,500 television stations available broadcast. Device is also compatible with Windows devices and allows you to record as well as play programs. The best USB TV tuners will help you make your computer versatile by incorporating TV features. The WinTV HD TV Tuner hauppauge is one of the most popular on the market and offers a set of features to make it easy to watch and record live TV. Available Available Any Windows laptop or desktop, installation is very easy and Hauppauge tuning software, known as WinTV, is intuitive and easy to navigate, which means that finding and recording programming does not require any learning curves. It records a program with a single click of a mouse button and even allows you to watch another program while the first one records. With built-in HDTV, analog cable TV, and QAM capabilities, using the included antenna makes channel detection as easy as possible. Once the setup is complete, the channels can be viewed in a window for easy multitasking or full screen. And the included WinTV app allows playback of any recorded program. Meanwhile, ATSC HDTV offers free digital air television with 1080i resolution on any PC screen on any of its 1,500 available TV stations broadcast in 200 cities across the country. The AVerMedia AVerTV Fly Hybrid Q USB TV tuner is a standout option that is compatible with Windows and Android TV computers. Compatible with ClearQAM, Analog, OTA FM Radio and ATSC, the AVerTV is a feature-rich option that doesn't cost a fortune. With smart features like picture-in-picture, smart channel grouping, time change, subtitles and an electronic program guide available, the AVerTV has everything you need to duplicate the traditional cable. The extendable high gain antenna is powerful enough to allow smooth transmission of digital TV channels as well as strong FM radio reception. Connecting your analog devices via a composite cable or S-Video input allows even more videos with alternative digital format. Connect to PC via USB and add DVR software directly to your Android and iOS devices with the downloadable app (no file conversion required). The intuitive user interface makes navigating channels, adjusting volume or selecting live TV very easy. By connecting directly to the USB port of your Windows computer, the Hauppauge WinTV-DualHD USB TV Tuner is a great choice for viewers who want to enjoy multiple channels at once. Dual TV allows users to select one channel to watch and allows them to record another at the same time (although another possibility is to have two simultaneous streams open at once, thanks to the picture-in-picture). A portable TV antenna is included for greater signal reception, as well as a remote control, a USB extension cable and an activation code for the WinTV Windows application. Once installed, shoppers can enjoy ATSC HDTV by air, as well as ClearQAM digital cable TV in Full HD quality (even in full screen). You can also program to record digital programming. Is with the popular Plex Media Server software, which means users can also upload programs to Linux and Android devices, including NVIDIA Shield. While most USB TV tuners focus heavily on connecting directly to a compatible Windows machine, this Hauppauge model is for Xbox One players. The Hauppauge digital TV tuner for Xbox One makes it easy to stream for free directly on the including streaming and even pausing live TV. The included One Guide integration provides immediate access to the next schedule, including local listings. Once connected to your Xbox via USB, you're ready to set up the included 10-mile range antenna near a window. That will pick up ATSC digital TELEVISION signals and bring you over 1,500 TV stations in more than 200 cities in the United States. It is worth noting that ATSC programming is free and does not require a TV subscription. AllAboutAdapters USB Digital ATSC Clear QAM TV tuner is an economical option for cable cutters looking for a quick and easy option to get up and running with free TV programming. The USB-based ATSC SD/HD TV Tuner provides connectivity to Windows laptop and desktop offerings with free digital air programming throughout North America. The included ClearQAM tuner can decode unencrypted QAM channels, offer local broadcast stations, publicly accessible channels, or private QAM channels. While the price is wallet friendly, the TV tuner still has the ability for subtitles, electronic programming, pause, rewind, fast forward and ad jumping. Directly supporting the disc recording function, the TV tuner adds the option to instantly record in real time or schedule recordings in advance with a 1080p Full HD output. The ATSC Android Digital TV tuner is a rare breed. It is designed to work with Android devices, turning them into separate portable TVs. It can work with smartphones and tablets as long as you run Android 5.1 and newer. The tuner connects to an antenna so you can watch broadcast TV shows on your device without having to pay for a streaming service. The included antenna offers reception sold and does not require an additional power supply or battery to operate. Final Verdict The best USB TV tuner is the well-known Hauppauge 1191 WinTV-HVR-955Q (see walmart). It is a popular option that makes it easy to watch and record live TV on any Windows laptop or desktop. Installation is easy and WinTV software is intuitive and easy to navigate. A good second option is the AVer Media Fly Hybrid Q (see amazon). It is compatible with Windows PC and Android TV, without being very expensive. Mecanizaciones Aeronáuticas S.A.
